Farm Service Agency
1927 Thurmond Mall, Suite 100, Columbia 29201-2375
Tel. (803) 806-3830

Functions: The Farm Service Agency is a division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. This Agency has 37 county offices in the State of S.C. Each county office is governed by farmer-elected county and community committees who administer federally-funded programs of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Committees are governed by the S.C. State FSA Committee and oversees and supervises all county operations. These programs are: Marketing and Price Assistance Programs: Direct and Guaranteed Farm Operating, Farm Ownership, and Emergency Loans; an Agricultural Marketing Transition Program that pays farmers to insure price protection during a seven-year transition to a free market; Commodity Loans through Price Support to ensure farmers have some price protection through depressed agricultural markets. Also Tobacco and Peanut Quota programs that use marketing quota to ensure price protection for these commodities. Conservation and Environmental Programs: The Conservation Reserve Program pays farmers and landowners annual rental payments to idle highly erodible lands or fragile wetlands from agricultural production for 10 to 15 years. Disaster Related Programs: The Agency is responsible for implementing Emergency Activities authorized by USDA through State and County Emergency Boards in a cooperative effort with other USDA Agencies. The Agency administers Crop Loss Disaster programs during years of drought or natural disaster. These programs assist farmers who have a substantial loss in production during these periods. The Agency also administers The Dairy Indemnity Program to assist milk producers who have losses due to natural disaster. Also the Emergency Conservation Program which is implemented during national disasters to assist in reestablishing cropland damage or correcting soil erosion due to these disasters. The Non-Insured Assistance Program can be implemented during periods of natural disaster to assist producers with crop loss in areas where crop insurance is not available. The Livestock Assistance Program is also administered by the Agency during times when feed losses occur. This program provides support to livestock farmers in purchasing necessary feed during these periods.

 Columbia 29201, Tel. (803) 253-3935

NRCS assists landowners in conserving, improving, and sustaining South Carolina's natural resources. Working in cooperation with the State's 46 conservation districts, the agency provides one-on-one technical assistance to agricultural and urban based individuals and communities. Practical technology and good science are at the heart of conserving our natural resources. For NRCS, this includes soil surveys, which provide detailed information on soil capabilities and a Geographic Information System, which shows the interaction of various elements of the environment. NRCS also has a variety of conservation programs that assist landusers, such as Resource Conservation and Development, PL-566 Small Watershed Program, Plant Materials Program, Environmental Quality Incentives Program, Wetlands Reserve Program, Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program, the Conservation Security Program, and the Farm and Ranch Protection Program.

As one of our country's oldest federal law enforcement agencies, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service has a long, proud, and successful history of fighting criminals who attack our nation's postal system and misuse it to defraud, endanger, or otherwise threaten the American public. As the primary law enforcement arm of the U.S. Postal Service, the U.S. Postal Inspection Service is a highly specialized, professional organization performing investigative and security functions essential to a stable and sound postal system.

Through its security and enforcement functions, the Postal Inspection Service provides assurance to American businesses for the safe exchange of funds and securities through the U.S. Mail; to postal customers of the "sanctity of the seal" in transmitting correspondence and messages; and to postal employees of a safe work environment.

Transportation, U.S. Department of Federal Highway Administration (FHWA)
1835 Assembly St., Suite 1270, Columbia 29201
Tel. (803) 765-5411

The Federal Highway Administration is the key Federal agency in S.C. for highway transportation issues. The mission of the FHWA is to improve mobility on our nation's highways through National Leadership, Innovation, and Program Delivery. To accomplish this mission, the agency has developed a four-goal Strategic Plan. The four goals involve improvements in the following areas: National Leadership, System Performance, Program Delivery, and Corporate Capacity. The FHWA has Division offices located in all 50 states as well as the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico. Each FHWA division is led by a Division Administrator and administers the Federal-aid Highway Program. The FHWA South Carolina Division partners with the S.C. Department of Transportation (SCDOT), S.C. Department of Public Safety, metropolitan planning organizations, and other Federal/State/local agencies or groups in the development of transportation projects and safety initiatives. During fiscal year 2009, over $1,117,000,000 in Federal-aid highway and American Recovery and Reinvestment Act funds were made available to the State of S.C. for highway construction including the replacement of bridges, traffic control devices, roadway beautification, and congressionally designated projects. The FHWA South Carolina Division strives to remain a "Partner in Choice" rather than one required by Federal law. We pride ourselves in "Making What's Good—Even Better" in South Carolina.

Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration
(FMCSA)*1835 Assembly St., Suite 1253, Columbia 29201*Tel. (803) 765-5414

The Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration (FMCSA) was created within U.S. Department of Transportation on Jan. 1, 2000, pursuant to the Motor Carrier Safety Act of 1999 [Public Law No. 106-159, 113 Stat. (Dec. 9, 1999)]. The FMCSA, formerly a part of the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), is primarily responsible for establishing and enforcing safety and security requirements of motor carriers operations in interstate and foreign commerce. In addition, FMCSA has jurisdiction over hazardous material shippers, container manufacturers, and drums reconditioners. The FMCSA prescribe the qualification and hours of service for drivers, the reporting of accidents, inspections, drug and alcohol testing, and commercial driver licenses. FMCSA's focus includes targeting high-risk carriers, shippers, and commercial drivers, improving safety information systems and motor vehicles technologies, as well as to increase public awareness. To accomplish these activities, the Administration works with federal, state, and local enforcement agencies, the motor carrier industry, labor and safety interest groups, and others.
